HERR HITLER IN FINLAND

CONVERSATIONS BEHIND THE FRONT

HERR HITLER, accompanied by Field-Marshal Keitel, his Chief of Staff, yesterday met Field-Marshal Mannerheim, Finnish Commander-in-Chief, on Finnish territory. The German News Agency announced this last night, says Reuter, in what it described as an unofficial despatch from Helsinki. The visit, it is stated, was in connection with Marshal Mannerheim's 75th birthday.

The German News Agency says that the meeting took place behind the front, and that the Fuehrer congratulated Marshal Mannerheim on behalf of the German people.

A Helsinki despatch to the Vichy News Agency says that the Finnish Cabinet met yesterday at Marshal Mannerheim's Headquarters, where it conferred on him the title of Marshal of Finland.

MARSHAL DECORATED

According to a Reuter telegram from Berlin last night, a communiqué was issued which stated that the meeting between Herr Hitler and Marshal Mannerheim was at a spot in Finland, behind the front. "As a sign of the common destiny of Germany and Finland, and the close brotherhood in arms of the two countries, the Fuehrer presented Field Marshal Mannerheim with the Grand Cross of the German Eagle Order in gold. In the course of the visit a fairly long conversation took place between the Fuehrer, the Finnish President, Marshal of Finland (Field Marshal Mannerheim) and General Field Marshal Keitel. The talk took place in an atmosphere of cordial friendship."—(Reuter.)

The presence in Helsinki of the Fuehrer and his Chief of Staff is likely to be concerned, among other things (says the P.A. Military Correspondent), with two military factors of strategic importance. The failure of the far northern offensive towards Murmansk (reception base of Anglo-American supplies for Russia) and the failure of the Axis Armies on the Leningrad front. Despite the fiercest assaults of the Luftwaffe, large British and Russian convoys, bearing tanks, 'planes and other equipment to Russia have got through. For eight months Herr Hitler's Austrian Brigade, commanded by General Dietl, has been held upon the banks of the River Litsa, about thirty miles west of Murmansk. All their efforts to advance across the rocky wastes have been thrown back, and Russian raids in their rear made their position more precarious.

"CO-ORDINATED FRONT"

Further south, Finnish forces—strengthened recently by four German divisions—have failed to cut the Murmansk railway, and Russian attacks, between Kandalaksha and Soroka, on the Stalin Canal, have in some sectors pushed them back.

Leningrad faces its first war-time spring with the confidence derived from long unbroken resistance to one of history's most bitter sieges. If the Red Army did not in its winter offensive completely strike off the shackles spanning the city from the Baltic to the East, it prised the Axis forces back sufficiently to permit an uninterrupted flow of fresh supplies reaching the defenders across the frozen Lake Ladoga. Strategically, the city's position was greatly improved, and Kronstadt, the great base of the Soviet Baltic Fleet, stands unimpaired.

Herr Hitler, therefore, may have decided upon a supreme co-ordinated effort to overcome Leningrad and to smash the united nations' northern lifeline of aid to the Soviet.—(Press Association.)

JOURNEY BY AIR

The German News Agency says that Herr Hitler flew to Finland, landing at an aerodrome behind the front at 11.20 yesterday morning. Besides Marshal Keitel, he was accompanied by Herr Dietrich, the Reich Press chief; Lieut.-General Talvela, the Finnish Staff Officer attached to the German High Command; Major-General Schmundt, Herr Hitler's Chief Army Adjutant, and a Foreign Office official.

President Ryti, Herr Von Bluecher, the German Minister to Finland, and General Erfurth, the German officer attached to the Finnish High Command, met them at the aerodrome, from where Herr Hitler drove to the meeting place by car. General Dietl and Colonel-General Stumpff, head of the German Air Group in the North, were also present.

Herr Hitler began his return journey to Germany at 5.15 p.m.

BITTER BATTLES

CLAIMS BY BOTH SIDES

North-east of Smolensk, says Reuter, bitter battles are still raging round Rzhev, key town on the Moscow-Riga railway. General Zhukov's forces have thrown back a new German push there—launched with the purpose of smashing the Red Army iron ring round this stronghold. Moscow officially reports "local Russian successes" on the Smolensk front.

The Germans are making fierce efforts to loosen General Zhukov's grip on the northern and southern approaches to Smolensk. Berlin claimed last night that German troops in a new flare-up in the Orel sector, south-east of Smolensk, had captured ten villages, overcoming strong resistance and beating off counter-attacks. A German regiment crossed the river with strong shock troops and pursued the Russians on the farther side for several miles, the announcer added.

Seaborne Red Army troops have attempted to land behind the German right flank between Mariupol and Taganrog, on the Sea of Azov, German Radio stated last night. The announcer claimed that after several hits had been scored on the Russians' motor boats by coastal units the attackers were forced back.

AIR SWEEPS ON FRANCE

MANY TARGETS HIT

"Fighter Command yesterday kept up its round-the-clock offensive against enemy targets in Northern France," states the Air Ministry News Service.

"In the morning Spitfires took a force of bomb-carrying Hurricanes to Maupertus aerodrome, in the Cherbourg area, where the pilots saw their bombs explode on the target. German fighters, Focke-Wulf 190s and Messerschmitt 109s tried to bar the formation's way homewards. Dog-fights followed all the way back across the Channel, and one enemy aircraft was destroyed and several others were severely damaged. All attacks on the bombers were warded off.

"In the afternoon Spitfires swept an area from Mardyck, in the north, to Le Touquet, in the south, and as far inland as St. Omer; but this time there were no engagements.

"Towards evening Boston bombers were taken to attack the docks at Boulogne. Bombs were seen to fall in the harbour area, and Spitfire pilots, in close escort, saw columns of black smoke shoot up. Not a single enemy aircraft was seen in this sweep, and all the bombers were brought safely back."

The Air Ministry states that in the evening many squadrons of fighters escorted Bostons which attacked the docks at Dunkirk. Three fighters are missing from the day's operations.

RAIDERS OVER ENGLAND

Flares were dropped by attacking 'planes over one North-East British coastal town during last night, but there were no bombs. A heavy barrage was put up, and the 'planes made off after a time.

Several districts had a similar experience, ground defences going into action vigorously.

£50,000 CLAIMED

BELFAST LORD MAYOR TEN HOURS IN BOX

THE Lord Mayor of Belfast (Alderman G. R. Black) was accused of snobbery by counsel during the resumed hearing of the £50,000 libel action against the Northern Whig, Ltd., in Belfast High Court yesterday. The Lord Mayor and nine other members of Belfast City Council—who each claim £5,000 damages—allege that they were libelled in a leading article in the Northern Whig, criticising a majority decision of the City Council in terminating an inquiry by the Special Committee known as the "Big Six" into charges of maladministration made by Home Office inspectors.

The hearing was adjourned until today.

Mr. J. M. Whitaker, K.C., defending, read a letter which, he said, had been sent to the Council by the Ministry of Home Affairs, condemning the Council's action in terminating the inquiry, and pointing out that the Council must perform its functions.

The Lord Mayor remarked that the letter was not signed by the Minister of Home Affairs (Sir Dawson Bates).

Mr. Whitaker—Do you suggest that no attention should be paid to it because it was signed by a civil servant? Lord Mayor—I would have paid more attention to it if the Minister's name had been on it.

It is signed by the highest official in the Ministry?—It would mean more to me if it were signed by Sir Dawson Bates.

That's a piece of snobbery?—No.

You are Lord Mayor?—I am supposed to be.

Mr. Whitaker—And unless people, when writing to you, put a handle to their names, you pay no attention to it. You ought to be ashamed of yourself.

The Lord Mayor—There is nothing to be ashamed of. I repeat it again.

CITY TREASURER

When counsel proceeded to deal with the censuring of the City Treasurer, Mr. W. E. Crawford, the Lord Mayor said that, as Chairman of the Finance Committee at the time, he had a particular interest in his case, and read all the documents available.

"What was he censured for?" asked Mr. Whitaker.

"Because," replied the witness, "I think the inspectors wanted to get their own back on him for the remarks he made at the Whiteabbey inquiry—very injudicious remarks they were, too."

Mr. Justice Brown—Assuming that the findings of the inspectors were correct and that Mr. Crawford had neglected his duty, would you have then considered that a proper matter of censure?

The Lord Mayor said that he would if he was satisfied that the inspectors' report was correct. "I was quite satisfied with Mr. Crawford's conduct—that is all I have to say about it," he declared.

Answering his lordship, the witness said he accepted Mr. Crawford's statement as against the statement contained in the inspector's report.

At the outset the Lord Mayor was questioned by Mr. Whitaker regarding the meeting of the City Council on August 6th, when some of the recommendations of the "Big Six" Committee were rejected and the Committee dismissed and "thanked for their services."

Asked if he had read the report of the "Big Six" before the meeting, the Lord Mayor said he had read some of it. He was quite sure he knew what was in it, having heard it discussed.

Mr. Whitaker—You were at a "caucus" before the Council meeting? Probably.

Was this meeting called specially to discuss the report?—I believe it was.

Did you make up your mind as a result of what you heard at that meeting?—Oh. no.

MISSING MINUTES

Did you say yesterday that you would try to get the minutes of this private meeting?—I believe I did.

Did you try to get them?—No; but somebody telephoned Councillor Gamble for them.

Did they get them?—No; there was no answer.

The Lord Mayor added that he saw the minutes in court yesterday.

Mr. Warnock, K.C., for plaintiff, interposed to say that the position regarding these minutes was that the plaintiffs did not consider they had a right to produce them, as they were the minutes of a party meeting. Mr. Whitaker could get them in the regular way by serving a subpœna on the man responsible for taking them.

Mr. Whitaker—I am afraid that we meet with obstruction when we get anything for the Press or the public.

Mr. Warnock—The inquiry is for his lordship, not for the Press or the public. Mr. Whitaker has now admitted that this is what he wants them for.

"NO REFORMS"

Mr. Whitaker—I will serve a subpœna and ask for liberty to recall the Lord Mayor.

The Lord Mayor said that a few reforms were suggested in a resolution drafted by Councillor Dowling following the meeting. He did not remember what the reforms were.

Mr. Whitaker read the resolution, and suggested that there were no reforms in it.

The Lord Mayor—They must have come on later.

Mr. Whitaker—There are no reforms suggested in it at all.

Witness—I can't answer that right off.

Mr. Whitaker—I think it would require earnest study to find them even with a microscope.

When his cross-examination had concluded the Lord Mayor had been ten hours in the witness box.

VOLUNTEER HELP FOR HARVEST

A NEW Irish land army is being recruited. Sluagh na Talmhan, now in the course of organisation, aims at providing a volunteer labour service to help the farmers overcome the shortage of labour on the land this harvest.

The drain of emigration, combined with the demand for workers on the bogs, is likely, it is felt, to cause a severe scarcity of workers in parts of the country, with consequent serious loss to the country, and Sluagh na Talmhan proposes to step in with a force recruited mainly from people who are prepared to spend their holidays working on farms; young men from the city who wish to see and participate in country life, and all who would give a helping hand in saving the crops.

It will be organised in groups of fifty to one hundred men, who will, if possible, provide their own bicycles, and the intention is to establish headquarters in local schools or halls in areas where labour is short and distribute themselves among the farmers as the occasion demands, receiving billeting and food in return for their work.

The organisers, who hope to have the co-operation of parish councils or branches of Muintir na Tire, emphasise that this voluntary labour will not be used to deprive land workers of employment or otherwise interfere with their interests.

Plans for the new organisation are being drawn up at the headquarters of the Committee, Findlater's Chambers, 28 Upper O'Connell street, Dublin.

FEWER CYCLE THEFTS

DUBLINS' NEW EXPERIENCE

Forty-three bicycles were stolen in Dublin last week. Last Tuesday six were taken, and on Wednesday seven. These figures were issued yesterday by the Department of Justice.

Meanwhile, according to the information given to an Irish Times reporter, the north side of the city is experiencing comparative immunity from the activities of the bicycle thief owing to the vigilance of the police.

Over 2,000 bicycles were stolen in Dublin during 1941. Between January and May of the present year 820 bicycles were stolen. Nearly half of the 820 were stolen in April.

DRIFTING MINES

LIGHTSHIP CREW'S DANGER

A thrilling story of the perilous task of seamen was made known yesterday, when the relief boat, in charge of Mr. William Bates, arrived at Kilmore quay, after effecting the relief of the Coningbeg Lightship. "For the second time within a month," the keepers said, "we were forced to abandon ship as a result of drifting mines. It was a hazy day and a strong tide was running, when we were called on board by the warning cry, 'Mines,' by the watch. One of the mines was only yards away when the order was given to abandon ship. With all speed we lowered the port lifeboat, and the entire crew scrambled into it. We had not pushed away when the mine struck the starboard side of the lightship and rolled along beside her. Every moment we expected an explosion, but on looking forward we were delighted to see that the mine had gone clear and was drifting away with the tide."

ELECTRICITY AND GAS CUT OFF

Three Dublin city premises—a small hotel, a shop and a private house—had their supply of electricity cut off by officials of the E.S.B. yesterday for non-compliance with the Board's economy regulations. "It is clear," states the Board, "that in a small number of instances the restrictions are not being carried out."

As a result of the check-up made by the E.S.B. it has been found that in the city and district the regulations are being loyally carried out by the vast majority of consumers.

Similarly a number of gas consumers have had their supply disconnected, and it was stated yesterday that the recent restrictions on the use of gas had achieved the reduction in consumption which was aimed at.

AUSTRALIA SATISFIED

CANBERRA, Thursday.—Dr. Evatt's mission to America and Britain had achieved important results, Mr. Curtin, Commonwealth Premier, announced to-day. "Probably," he said, "the greatest service Dr. Evatt rendered was the winning of sympathetic understanding of our viewpoint in Washington and London. There was never any real cause for doubt or misunderstanding, and any trace of either has completely disappeared.—(Reuter.)

BICYCLES DESTROYED

Bicycle frames, tyres, tubes and equipment destroyed in the fire at the premises of the Irish Raleigh Cycle Company, Ltd., Hanover quay, Dublin, on Wednesday, cannot be replaced, and the amount of salvage was small.

The Raleigh Company assembled both Raleigh and Humber bicycles in the destroyed premises, but imports of machines being down to four per cent. of pre-war figures, the number of cycles involved in the fire was not very large. "It was not by any means a great number," an official of the firm told an Irish Times reporter yesterday—"certainly far below the figures suggested in some reports. We had nothing at all in this year, and our stocks were low. The tyres and tubes with which it was intended to fit our stock had recently been distributed by Messrs. Dunlop."

LIBYA FIGHT ENTERS THIRD STAGE

AXIS MAY LAUNCH A COUNTER-ATTACK

GENERAL ROMMEL is expected to counter-attack in the fiercely-fought clash between British tanks and German Panzers, now entering its third stage, says Reuter's Special Correspondent at Knightsbridge. British armoured divisions are ready.

A few days ago it was considered probable that the German tanks would attempt to retire through the minefields, and, in fact, many went through to the west, but finding that he could get more supplies than he obtained in the opening stages of the attack around Bir Hacheim, General Rommel decided to make a stand and dug in his artillery.

DANGEROUS STRIKING FORCE

Although the Germans have lost approximately 260 tanks, they still retain a dangerous striking Panzer force. It is this force, with possible reinforcements rushed through the minefields gap, which has been engaged by day and night in the huge saucer of land west of Knightsbridge, now known as the "Devil's Cauldron."

British tanks, closely supported by powerful artillery units, have been attacking relentlessly.

Having established a rough corridor through the minefields, the Axis suddenly turned against the De Gaullists holding the southern flank of the Gazala line. This was an attempt to remove the threat to General Rommel's own rear by the Allied columns sweeping south past Bir Hacheim. On Tuesday the full weight of General Rommel's dive-bomber resources was thrown against the De Gaullist defences, and a strong infantry attack by the Italian Arieto Division, led by about 20 tanks, was made.

Ralph Walling, Reuter's special correspondent, in a message dated Cairo, Thursday, said:—

General Rommel's plan seems to be to roll up the left flank of the Eighth Army at Bir Hacheim, and, if this is successful, renew the drive on Tobruk. During yesterday's Axis manœuvre in this area, Royal Air Force and Empire fighter pilots played havoc with a large number of Stuka dive-bombers. First reports show that Royal Air Force pilots shot down seven of them.

MUSSOLINI FOR LIBYA

Signor Mussolini has gone to Libya to inspect Italian troops there, according to Danish Radio, quoting an unconfirmed Berlin report.

First news of the Allied stand at Bir Hacheim was given in Cairo to-day by a man who has just returned from duty with the American field ambulance service.

"The de Gaullists," he said, "are fighting superbly, and will continue to hold out.

"At least 220 light and 50 heavy tanks were used by the German and Italian forces in their initial attack on Bir Hacheim on Wednesday week. The Axis Panzer formation crept up to the fortified zone at night. I was some distance away, but heard the rumble of the tanks and the crash of the de Gaullists as they went into action. Their accurate shooting put many of the tanks out of action. The American field ambulance is doing sterling work, running a hazardous gauntlet in the battle area between Bir Hacheim and Tobruk. At least twenty of their ambulances are still staying at Bir Hacheim helping the wounded."—(Reuter.)

"In response to a call from our land forces for air support south of Bir Hacheim on Wednesday," says the Air Ministry News Service, "Kittyhawk fighters and Kitty bombers attacked a concentration of armoured cars and enemy motor transport. All the bombs fell among the vehicles, and then the fighters and fighter bombers flew at 'zero height' above the concentration, raking the vehicles with their guns. At least twenty vehicles were destroyed, and numerous others, including staff cars and ammunition trucks, were damaged. Spitfires were again in action, tackling four Messerschmitt 109s near Gazala."

HELP FOR IRISH RED CROSS

U.S. DELEGATES' TOUR

"WE have so far reached a complete understanding with the representatives of the American Red Cross on all the problems which have arisen," said Mr. Justice Conor Maguire, Chairman of the Irish Red Cross Society, when approached last night by an Irish Times representative for a statement on the progress of a series of conferences that have taken place at the Merrion square headquarters between the Irish organisation executives and Mr. George E. Allen, special assistant to the Chairman of the American Red Cross, and Dr. Daniel P. O'Brien, of the Rockefeller Foundation.

The object, as far as the Irish Red Cross Society is concerned, is to obtain as a free gift from the American Red Cross a submitted list of over 150 items of medical supplies, which will exceed in value over £100,000.

RELIEF SCHEME

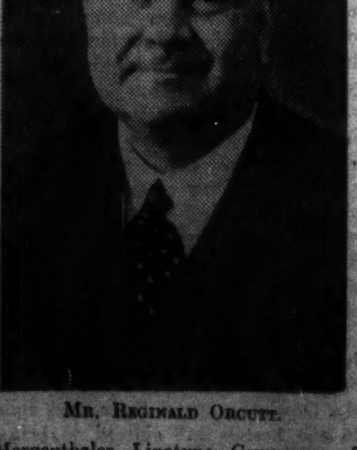
The preliminaries of these negotiations were arranged many months ago by the Irish Red Cross Executive, when a list of supplies that it was anxious to receive from the American Society was drawn up and sent to America last October. Mr. Allen and Dr. O'Brien have come to Dublin on behalf of the American Red Cross to reassure themselves that, firstly, this country possesses an efficient Red Cross organisation; and, secondly, if we receive the supplies, the condition governing the gift by the Act of Congress authorising it—that the supplies will only be employed towards the relief of refugees or persons suffering from the effects of war—will be complied with. The two delegates in Dublin at present are only plenipotentiaries, and have not the authority to make the grant of supplies personally. Negotiations have so far favourably progressed, however, that probably towards the middle of next week the final touches will be put upon the amended list of required supplies and the assurances required by the delegates as to their uses, given to them in writing.

Mr. Justice Conor Maguire and Mr. Allen and Dr. O'Brien will leave Dublin for Waterford, where they will inspect a parade of V.A.D. Later that day they will travel to Cork, where they will meet members of the local Red Cross organisation. On their journey back to Dublin on Monday they will make a detour to Limerick to meet the local workers.

U.S. INDUSTRY LOOKS AHEAD

American industry already is concerning itself with post-war planning of foreign trade.

Representatives of U.S. key industries are visiting Great Britain and Ireland with the object of developing trade relations when hostilities have ceased. One of them, Mr. Reginald Orcutt, Overseas Vice-President of the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, of Brooklyn, New York, renewed his acquaintance with this country yesterday. Since he last visited Ireland eighteen years ago he has travelled extensively on business missions in Latin America, the Far East and Europe. He proposes, on completing his work here, to make a tour of Great Britain.



MR. REGINALD ORCUTT.

THE ATTACKS ON ALASKA

PANAMA CANAL ALERT

THE United States Navy Department announced last night from Washington that the situation in Dutch Harbour, the U.S. secret air and naval base in the Aleutian Islands, Alaska, which was twice raided by Japanese aircraft on Wednesday, was quiet. Civilian defence units at Juneau, the capital of Alaska, have been placed on a 24-hour alert basis.

Reuter states that, coinciding with the news of these raids, the state of alert has been intensified in the Panama Canal Zone, where all local leave passes have been cancelled. All radio stations along the entire Pacific coast from Canada to Mexico were silenced during the night by order of the military authorities as a measure of precaution.

MIDWAY ISLAND

The U.S. Navy Department announced last night that Japanese 'planes attacked Midway Island yesterday, according to a Reuter Washington message. The last mention of the island was on March 10, when it was announced that seaplanes were intercepted west of it by U.S. fighters based on Midway itself.

Midway Island is 1,653 miles from Dutch Harbour and 1,194 miles from Pearl Harbour.

The Reuter message containing the announcement of the raid also reports a communiqué from the Department, stating that no bombs were dropped in the second raid, which occurred about an hour after the first.

A CARRIER BASE

The source of the Japanese aircraft has not been definitely determined, but it is thought to have been a carrier base.

Another report says that the possibility that a powerful Japanese fleet is standing off the islands is not excluded.

Four bombers and fifteen fighters took part in the first raid on Dutch Harbour, and the town of Ketchikan, on the Alaskan mainland, had a 20-minute alert.

One view as to the objects of the raids is that the first was to test the defences, and the second may have been the prelude to something much bigger—perhaps an attempted invasion of the islands, with the object of preventing this long string of islands, jutting into the Pacific, being used as a base for supplying arms to Russia or for attacks on Japan; while still another Washington view is that the attacks were Japan's reply to U.S. raids on Japanese cities.

PATROL SHIP LOST

The communiqué also states that the U.S. naval patrol vessel, Cythera, must be presumed to have been lost in the Atlantic. She had been taken over by the Navy in December, and was overdue for more than three weeks. Formerly owned by Mrs. Edith Hale Harkness, of New York, she was originally named Agawa yacht. Built by Ramage Ferguson, Ltd., Leith, Scotland, in 1907, she had a gross tonnage of 602.

RECONSTRUCTION AFTER THE WAR

PROPOSALS BY I.T.G.W.U.

THE Government will be urged to expedite the completion of comprehensive schemes for dealing with post-war reconstruction at the annual conference of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, which opens in Dundalk on Sunday.

The resolution on this subject, which is submitted by the Cork No. 1 Branch, adds that the problems of the demobilisation of the Defence Services, provision for their dependents, and the return of the men who have left the country, demand that provision should be made for their adequate maintenance pending their return to employment.

It is further claimed that the future policy on education, social services, regional local government, national and local finance, should also be defined. Those essential national services, such as coal, transport, power, milling, and the provision of finance for national and local government, should be brought under public ownership and control, it is suggested.

A number of resolutions record vehement protests against Order 166, and calling for its withdrawal. It is contended that the Order is contrary to democratic principles as set out in the Constitution, and creates widespread hardship on all workers, especially the lower paid.

The Government also will be criticised for its handling of the supplies problem, and a demand will be made for the setting up of an economic advisory body representative of workers and employers to advise the Government on industrial problems.

The Trade Union Act, Unemployment Insurance Act, National Health Insurance, and a proposal for a State scheme of family allowances are among other matters to be discussed.

HERR HEYDRICH DEAD

COLOURFUL CAREER

The death of Reinhard Heydrich was officially announced in Berlin yesterday as follows:—"The Deputy Protector of Bohemia and Moravia, Chief of the Security Police, and S.S. Group Leader and General of Police, Reinhard Heydrich, died this morning as the result of the attempt on his life."

It was stated immediately after the attempt that Herr Heydrich's condition was serious, but he remained conscious. He was said to have been wounded in the spine.

Over 6 feet tall, fair-haired, blue-eyed, and of boyish appearance, always very smartly dressed in the black uniform of the highest rank of the S.S., Herr Heydrich was said to be the handsomest man in the Nazi Party, says the Press Association. Herr Heydrich was born in 1904, and, when only 16, however, joined a secret organisation in Munich to fight against the Weimar Republic.

He also joined General Maerker's Free Corps, but nothing came of the move, and in 1926 he entered the navy. He became an officer, but was mixed up in a scandal which gave rise to a court case and had to resign.

Herr Heydrich then joined the Nazi Party, and in 1933 was appointed Chief of Police in Munich. In 1934 he was reported to have taken an active part in the June purge, and for his services Herr Hitler made him second in command of the Gestapo under Herr Himmler.

Herr Heydrich became well known to all foreign journalists, as he was always in charge of the arrangements for any big event, In September, 1941, it was announced that Herr Heydrich had been appointed Protector of Czecho-Slovakia.

The German Radio said yesterday of Herr Heydrich:—"He will live in history as one of the most striking personalities of the German revolution."

MORE EXECUTIONS

Twenty-four more Czechs, including three women, were executed in Prague and Brno yesterday, says Prague Radio. Thirteen were from Prague and eleven from Brno.

Early Morning Landing

BRITISH Commando troops carried out a raid on the French coast between Boulogne and Le Touquet at 3 a.m. yesterday morning, and, according to the official report issued in London yesterday afternoon, valuable information was obtained.

A German report says that the attack was repelled, and some prisoners and arms were captured.

The communiqué, which was issued by Combined Headquarters, stated:

"A minor reconnaissance raid was carried out in the early hours of to-day on the enemy-occupied coast of France in the Boulogne-Le Touquet area. The military raiding force consisted of Special Service troops, and valuable information was obtained.

"The re-embarkation of the Special Service troops by units of the Royal Navy was covered by aircraft of the Royal Air Force Fighter Command. The Royal Navy provided a naval escort for the forces."

A later communiqué stated:

"The naval and military force which took part in the minor reconnaissance raid between Boulogne and Le Touquet in the early hours of to-day has now returned to England. A small contingent of Special Service troops landed on the French coast, where they engaged the enemy and obtained valuable information. Our troops suffered only slight casualties."

RAID DESCRIBED

Reuter's Special Correspondent, in a message dated Thursday "off the French coast," stated that the Commando troops, who were clad only in shorts, stockings and soft woollen hats, stormed ashore just before 3 a.m. and had established themselves on the beach before the Germans opened fire. Wading waist deep from their assault craft and cutting their way through barbed wire defences, some of the raiders reached points some distance inland.

GERMAN REPORT

The German communiqué stated:—"An attempted British landing, with weak forces, on the Channel coast was repelled by the German coastal defence. Some prisoners and arms were captured."

A Berlin military spokesman said:—"In the early hours of this morning some motor torpedo boats, escorted by low-flying 'planes, approached the French Coast near Le Touquet. The British naval units were immediately fired on by German coastal artillery, so that they had to turn away. A further landing attempted to the south of the strong point which was first attacked resulted in a few British soldiers reaching the shore, but they were immediately driven off by the German defences. Some British soldiers were taken prisoner and some arms and sappers' tools were captured.

"The landing units fled to the waiting motor torpedo boats in dingheys without having achieved anything whatsoever."

NAVAL FIGHT

GERMAN VESSEL SUNK

A communiqué from Combined Headquarters in London late last night stated:

"It is now confirmed that while the minor reconnaissance raid was being carried out by a small contingent of Special Service troops between Boulogne and Le Touquet in the early hours of to-day, the naval escort force sank an enemy patrol vessel.

"The senior officer of the naval escort force, Lieutenant-Commander T. N. Cartwright, R.N.V.R., has reported that, while the troops were ashore, our light forces patrolling close to the French coast engaged two enemy patrol boats. One of the enemy boats was sunk and the other damaged. Our vessels suffered neither damage nor casualties.

"The military force, which suffered only slight casualties, was under the command of Major R. S. Trevor."

An Associated Press message from El Paso, Texas, states that Paulette Goddard got a decree of divorce against Charlie Chaplin in the Mexican Civil Court, at Juarez, yesterday.

A WICKLOW WELCOME

County Wicklow people asked to billet Dublin evacuees in the case of emergency displayed a splendid spirit of citizenship, and gave all the particulars asked for willingly and frankly.

This tribute is paid to them by Mr. T. C. Herr, county billeting officer, in a report sent to the Medical Officer of Health. The house survey, according to this report, was finished last September, and from this the Department has compiled statistics which have enabled the authorities to estimate the number of evacuees that can be accommodated in the county. For various reasons, this estimate must be kept secret, but the householders who are likely to have evacuees billeted on them could rest assured that due consideration had been given to such factors as the number of persons already in residence in the house, the domestic circumstances and the comfort of invalids or sick persons in the house. The clergy of all denominations were helpful.

GOVERNMENT NOTICES.

EMERGENCY POWERS (CONTROL OF PRICES) (NO. 140) ORDER, 1942. MAXIMUM RETAIL PRICES OF KNITTING WOOLS.

Notice is hereby given that the Emergency Powers (Control of Prices) (No. 129) Order, 1942 (S.R. & O., No. 110 of 1942) has been revoked, and that a new Order entitled as above has been made by the Minister for Supplies, with effect as on and from 5th June, 1942.

The maximum retail prices for knitting wools fixed in the new Order are the same as those prescribed in the Order which has now been revoked, with the exception of five branded knitting wools for which the new maximum retail prices are as follows:—

EMERGENCY POWERS (MANUFACTURE OF TEXTILES AND TEXTILE ARTICLES) ORDER, 1942.

The Minister for Supplies has made an Order entitled as above. The Order prohibits any person, unless he is the holder of a licence or permit granted by the Minister for Supplies, from engaging on and after the 15th July, 1942,

(1) in the production by power driven machinery or the processing of any of the following, viz.:
- (a) Wool tops;
- (b) Yarns and rovings of every description made wholly or partly of cotton, linen, wool, silk or artificial silk;
- (c) Fabrics woven or knitted of every description made from yarns of the above types; or

(2) in the production by power driven machinery of clothing, hosiery and articles of any kind made wholly or mainly from fabrics or yarns of the kind described above.

The Order provides that the Minister may attach such conditions as he thinks fit to licences or permits and that such conditions must be complied with.

Forms of application for licences may be obtained from the Secretary, Department of Supplies, 13-14 Earlsfort Terrace, Dublin.

Germany and Finland

At a moment when the battle around Kharkov still is raging, and issues are at stake in the Ukraine which may have a decisive influence on the outcome of the war between Germany and Russia, it is announced that Herr Hitler has arrived in Finland. The announcement comes via the German News Agency in the guise of "an unofficial message from Helsinki," and adds that the Fuehrer is accompanied by Marshal Keitel, Germany's Chief of Staff. The reason given for this unexpected visit is that Herr Hitler went to Finland in order to convey the congratulations of the German people to the veteran Marshal Mannerheim on the occasion of his seventy-fifth birthday, which was celebrated yesterday. The Finnish Cabinet paid an official visit to Marshal Mannerheim somewhere "behind the front," where the dignity of Marshal of Finland was conferred upon him; and advantage was taken of the opportunity to hold a meeting between the Marshal, Dr. Ryti, President of the Finnish Republic, and Marshal Keitel. No mention is made of Herr Hitler's attendance at this meeting, and it seems that, while Marshal Keitel's visit has been announced in Helsinki, the fact that the Fuehrer himself is in Finland has not yet been published in the country. Naturally, Herr Hitler's arrival on Finnish soil has given rise to much speculation throughout Europe. At the present stage of the fighting in Russia, his visit seems to have unusual significance; and most of the military commentators agree that it portends important developments in the Far North. Since Finland entered the war her admirable little army has been entrusted with most of the operations in the Murmansk area. During the last eight months Murmansk has been used by Great Britain and the United States as the Russian terminus of what has been called "Russia's life-line"; in other words, most of the Anglo-American supplies have been discharged at this port.

There can be small doubt that these supplies have been substantial. Convoys of varying sizes have found their way across the Atlantic, although there have been certain losses as a result of Germany's U-boat campaign; and reports from the Kharkov area indicate that British and American tanks have been playing an important part in the Russian campaign. The Finnish forces have been fighting bravely; but the Russian High Command, realising the vital importance of Murmansk, has been defending the area with strong forces, and the fact is that all attempts to close the port of Murmansk have failed. Further south the Finns also have been active. They have been taking part in the "Axis" attacks on Leningrad, which, although it has not contrived to break Ritter von Leeb's grip on Russia's second city, has managed to keep its lines of communication open, and to receive continuous supplies of war material and food from the outside world. The important naval base at Kronstadt, moreover, remains in Russian hands, thus giving the Soviet Navy a valuable point d'appui in northern waters. In these circumstances, it is suggested that Herr Hitler has gone to Finland in order to bring about a closer co-ordination between the Finnish and the German forces. Already there is an Austrian brigade on the line of the River Litsa. To the south of this position four German divisions recently reinforced the Finns; but they have failed to cut the railway to Murmansk, and, from the "Axis" point of view, the whole situation north of Leningrad is unsatisfactory. It is quite possible that Herr Hitler intends to accompany his offensive in the Ukraine by a determined thrust against Murmansk, on the one hand, and Leningrad, on the other. To that end the closest co-operation between the German and the Finnish forces would be essential. It must be remembered that, for all practical purposes, Finland is an active member of the "Axis" group. Her strategic position is of the highest importance, and it is more than likely that one of the immediate results of Herr Hitler's visit will be a German-Finnish offensive in the Far North.

An Oige

For the next fortnight the citizens of Dublin will have an opportunity to see an exhibition arranged by An Oige, the Irish Youth Hostels' Association, which, in spite of the difficulties of the present time, is prospering. Three years ago the Irish Youth Hostels' Association was just beginning to get into its stride. Then came the war, and with it went the interchange of all foreign visitors, and even of the great majority of British hostellers who used to visit this country in great numbers during the summer season. For a time the Irish members continued to "week-end" as usual, unaffected by any economic difficulties, but this state of affairs was not to continue. Before very long supplies of paraffin oil became few and far between, and, as all cooking in the youth hostels is done on paraffin stoves, this meant that the open fire had to be used to some considerable extent. Then came a day when paraffin supplies ceased altogether, and all cooking from that time onwards has been done over the open fire. Tea supplies began to dwindle, and soon it became impossible to obtain tea anywhere near the hostels. Some months later the same thing happened with regard to the supplies of bread, until nowadays members of An Oige who spend their week-ends in the hostels are obliged to bring almost all their rations with them from the city. Transport difficulties, too, have had their repercussions on the association. The great majority of hostellers usually either cycle from the city or walk from the nearest railway station or 'bus terminus; but the re-arrangement of time-tables has meant a complete reorganisation of routes and times, and, now that tyres are becoming impossible to obtain and bicycles are playing so important a part in the life of the average citizen, few people are anxious to run the risk of destroying their tyres on the rough country roads. Nevertheless, in spite of these many obstacles, An Oige has not faded out of the picture, and every week-end hundreds of young men and women with packs up on their backs leave the unhealthy atmosphere of the city for a week-end in the fresh air.

Illicit Spirits

A report from London says that the police and Customs authorities have managed to trace the leaders of a gang which has been selling illicit spirits, as well as genuine whisky stolen in transit from Scotland, in the London area. This beginning of a sort of "potheen" traffic in England is the result of the shortage of Scotch whisky, which makes the business of the "racketeer" highly profitable. There have long been reports from the dockyards of Glasgow and other cities of the consumption of many substitutes for whisky among the labouring classes; not only the noxious mixture of cheap wine and methylated spirits, known in our own country as "Red Biddy," but all varieties of metal polish, cheap perfume, and such semi-alcoholic preparations, have been popular with the most hardened drinkers. The manufacture of illicit spirits on a commercial scale, however, has been almost unknown across the Channel, but, now that shortage of the genuine article has created a demand for "hooch" amongst the more unscrupulous retailers, the police are faced with a problem which has become serious. The co-operation of the Salvation Army and other organisations has assisted them in the past in their campaign against the perfume-drinkers and others. The results before the outbreak of war were encouraging; but the new problem presents greater difficulties. No longer will it be necessary to seek for the consumers among the poorest classes only. The example of "dry" America shows that the steadiest support for bootleggers can come from the upper classes. Whisky is scarce, wines are likely to become almost unobtainable. In default of these, the wealthy alcohol-seekers will be thrown back on the "racketeer," and will co-operate with him to the fullest extent to obtain their liquor. The danger is not merely that Customs revenue will be lost. Illicit spirits are commonly more devastating in their effects than the comparatively mild whisky to which the average man is accustomed, and, if consumed over a prolonged period, can cause grave harm to the constitution. A country which is campaigning for all-round fitness cannot neglect to take the strongest measures to stamp out the "hooch" traffic before it becomes too firmly established.

LADY DE FREYNE has left Leeson Private Hospital and is staying at Shearwater, Baily.

Dr. Franz van Cauwelaert (President of the Belgian House of Representatives) has arrived in Dublin from London and is staying at the Royal Hibernian Hotel. He has accepted an invitation from the Committee of the Limerick Muintir na Tire to give a lecture on "The Social and Economic Influence of the Boerenbund" in Limerick on Sunday evening, June 7th.

Lord Oranmore and Browne has presented a pair of old Georgian silver candlesticks to the Irish Red Cross Society for their auction in the Gresham Hotel next month.

The Lord Mayor, Alderman P. S. Doyle, T.D., will attend the annual meeting to-day for the Cork Street Fever Hospital.

RED CROSS SALE

Gifts for the Red Cross sale at the Gresham Hotel on 2nd and 3rd July are being received at the new depot, 74 Grafton street, and from the display in the windows it is evident that the response to the committee's appeal is most encouraging. Among the objects attracting attention are a cutlery service in gold plate, presented by the Earl and Countess of Granard; Dan O'Connell's processional chair (a splendid example of Irish craftsmanship a hundred years ago), given by Louis Wine, Ltd., and a lovely K'ang H'se vase, which comes from the Earl of Longford. A beautiful old oval Waterford glass mirror, presented by Mr. M. Sullivan, of Cork, is being cared for in the National Museum until the opening of the sale. Another interesting gift received is a fine old Thibouville Lamy exhibition model violin, presented by Captain S. C. Hall. A considerable amount of antique jewellery and old silver has been sent, as well as many useful articles. A recent gift, that of Mr. T. J. Gaisford St. Lawrence, is an ombre Chippendale table with bead-work top.

A broadcast on the sale will be given on Tuesday night next from Radio Eireann at 10.30. It will be in the form of a round talk, those taking part being Mr. Thomas McGreevy, Mr. Liam Gogan, Miss Dorothy Day and Mr. P. Cussen.

OBITUARY

SUPT. P. P. ROCHFORD

The death of Superintendent Pierce P. Rochford, which took place suddenly in Dublin while he was attending a meeting of the Garda Representative Body, removes from the Force a very efficient officer, and a man who did a great deal in the interests of game preservation. While stationed at Kanturk he organised the West Cork Game Protection Association, one of the foremost bodies of its kind in the country, and it was chiefly through his efforts that large numbers of farmers in the area co-operated in the preserving of big tracts of countryside. From time to time he made many suggestions to the authorities about the modification of the game laws and their applicability to present day conditions. Born at Cratloe, County Clare, some forty-one years ago, he joined the Civic Guards in March, 1922. He was promoted Inspector later in that year, and Superintendent in 1924. He served in Carrickmacross, Nenagh, Ballinasloe, Marney, Dunfavin and Donegal, and had left Kanturk only about a month ago to go to Lismore. He represented the Superintendents of Munster on the Garda Representative Body. He married Miss Zabehlicky, a Czech, whose father is an engineer in the Carlow Sugar Factory. He leaves two children.

A "SEVEN YEARS' WAR"

The "Seven Years' War" between medical officers and the Department of Local Government and Public Health has reached that critical stage where the collapse of one or other side in sheer exhaustion is a possibility.

Fought for the remuneration of district medical officers of health for immunisation against diphtheria, the "battle" is virtually certain to reach its climax to-day when the subject will be discussed, perhaps for the last time, by the annual general meeting of the Medical Association of Eire. Early last year in a provisional agreement the Department laid it down that, in consideration of an inclusive remuneration of £50 a year, each district M.O. in charge of wholly rural areas should, in addition to ordinary duties prescribed by sanitary orders, undertake additional duties, including immunisation under anti-diphtheria and other schemes, domiciliary treatment of tuberculosis assigned by the county medical officer of health, duties in connection with the making of housing surveys, and the treatment of minor ailments in children referred to them under an approved school-medical-service scheme. The M.O.'s kicked at the last-mentioned duty, and the Association at its last meeting, on the grounds that it was unwarrantable interference with private practice, decided that, unless the duties relating to the treatment of minor ailments in children were removed, all further negotiations should be broken off. Since then the duties have been more mildly interpreted, but the provision for them remains.

Should the Association, in view of the milder interpretation of these duties, decide to reverse last year's view, the "fight" will be over; should it adhere to its resolve of the last meeting the members will have to consider whether they will, or can, maintain a ban on the performance of immunisation on the Department's terms, or on any other capitation terms it may be possible to secure.

FIGHT FOR CHINA BASE

ANOTHER CITY FALLS

The Chinese communiqué, quoted by Reuter, from Chungking, Kiang Kai-shek's war-time headquarters, reports that the battle outside Chuhsien, the Chekiang air base, raged all day yesterday, the defenders holding their ground against infantry attacks supported by 'planes and artillery.

The communiqué reports the fall of Kengtung, an important city in the south-east Shan States. It fell into Japanese hands on the night of May 26, and on June 1 they advanced to the north-east, and are attacking Mong.

It is estimated that the Japanese lost 2,000 killed and wounded in fighting to the north and south of Chuhsien. The Chinese artillery subjected troop concentrations to the east of the city to heavy shelling.

According to an Associated Press message, the communiqué stated that 4,000 casualties have been inflicted on the Japanese in this battle.

Reuter adds that the Japanese are pushing north from Canton, and have received fresh reinforcements.

A Reuter Tokyo report quotes a Japanese News Agency despatch stating that Japanese 'planes, closely co-operating with the army, carried out a "surprise raid" yesterday morning on Kweilin, in Northern Kwangsi Province, the Chinese forces and airfield and other military installations. Other Japanese air units attacked Koyiu, forty miles west of Canton, and the headquarters of Chungking's 64th Army.

MASONIC BOYS' SCHOOL

The Board of Governors of the Masonic Boys' School will meet at the Schoolhouse, Clonskeagh, on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Breakfast will be served at 8.30 o'clock.

SUNK IN THE GULF

The United States Navy Department announced last night, says a Reuter message from Washington, that a medium-sized British merchantman was torpedoed and sunk in the Gulf of Mexico. Survivors were landed at a Gulf coast port.

LONDON LETTER

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
THURSDAY NIGHT.

WHEN Lord Woolton held up a green disc a couple of inches in diameter and half-an-inch thick before the eyes of the Peers and said: "Here is enough vegetables to feed a family of twelve people," their lordships gaped. Then the Minister of Food explained the new drying process, dehydration, through which he foresees the means of taking large surpluses off the market this summer for the winter. When dried into flakes vegetables will last almost indefinitely, and can be stored in a fraction of the space required for the raw product. Potatoes normally consist of 81 parts of water out of a hundred, and the percentage can be as high as 87; onions can contain 92 per cent. In the process the thoroughly-washed vegetables are sliced mechanically into flakes, which are subjected to an intense air-drying treatment and controlled draughts until not more than one-tenth of the normal water-content remains. While the moisture is removed, the essential vitamins and flavours are retained, and only the addition of water is needed to make the vegetables ready for use. The flaked and dried products are stored in airtight tins.

A Yorkshireman

Mr. William Mabane, M.P., who has succeeded Major Gwilym Lloyd George, M.P., the newly-appointed Minister of Fuel, Light and Power, as Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Food, is a fast-talking Yorkshireman, whose family has been in the boot and shoe and fancy leather trade for two generations. Mr. Mabane, who has the unregenerate accent of his native county, has been Joint Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Home Security for many months, and has worked hard to create one efficient fire force out of hundreds of small organisations throughout Britain. He sits for Huddersfield as National Liberal.

The Journalistic Code

Mr. Ossian Goulding, brother of Sir Basil Goulding, has returned to London after two-and-a-half years in neutral Stockholm for the Evening Standard, and later for the Daily Telegraph. Ninety-two foreign correspondents are working in the Swedish capital, says Mr. Goulding, whose brilliant despatches have been widely quoted all over the world. The Press Gallery is a room in the Grand Hotel, a gesture of the Swedish Foreign Office. Swedish diplomats expressed the view that Allied and Axis journalists there should "exchange the common courtesies of life" when they gather to receive the news. Accordingly, the newspapermen of the belligerent countries bow to each other, Mr. Goulding reports.

The Artist's Beard

Although in all probability 99 out of every 100 men who have lived on this earth were bearded, the newspapers are featuring Mr. Rolle M. Paton, the young Independent in the Cardiff by-election, as "the bearded candidate." Mr. Paton's policy is "Wales for the Welsh." He has just the kind of beard which all the South Glamorganshire electors are sure every artist wears. The House has never yet seen one like it. He may do well, but the fight is between Mr. Cyril Lakin, the National candidate, a native of Barry, and now assistant editor of the Sunday Times, and Mr. Ronald Mackey, Socialist. In the general election the Conservative majority was only 1,300 in a poll of 57,000.

Appeal to Farmers

The Ministry of Agriculture made a strong appeal to farmers to-day to take delivery of lime during the summer, when three-quarters of its cost is being paid by the subsidy. Supplies may have to be in the form of quicklime, when, perhaps, the farmer would prefer to handle ground limestone. Quicklime is not so convenient for storage. Nevertheless, until comparatively recently, it was the only form of lime, other than chalk, available for agricultural purposes. Farmers used to lay the quicklime in long heaps, cartload thick, on a headland, and cover it up closely with earth or turf. There it remained until wanted for spreading.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

One h.p.

Wexford (writes Mr. M. Kavanagh, of the said town) has had a long start on Dublin in the line of "one h.p. motor cars." I enclose a photograph of a complete outfit. It is owned by that well-known greengrocer, Mr. Billy Malone, of Selskar street, Wexford, who also appears in the photograph. He uses the outfit for his business purposes—that is, bringing his vegetables from country farms to his little shop in the town.

This piece of rolling stock was at one time an 8 h.p. "Morris" van, but even before the petrol shortage became acute Billy ingeniously, and with great foresight, converted the thing so that it could be drawn by a gee-gee. It seems to serve its purpose quite well, and provides comfortable accommodation for the driver in all weathers.

Billy is also, I believe, the owner of the only horse jaunting car in the town to be found on a hazard.

[The photograph, I fear, is a trifle small. That is my mistake.—Q.]

Tim

Last week, I read, more than 335,090 Londoners—by far a record number for any week—dialled TIM on their telephones, and in return heard the golden voice inform them of the correct time. I find the reason for this enormous number of inquiries a little obscure. Is it possible that London itself has become confused over this time business? Is the problem of disentangling New Time and Old Time, Summer Time and Double Summer Time, Greenwich Time and Sun Time and European Time becoming too much even for the greatest city in the world? Or have all the watches simply gone wrong?

Perhaps the close contact with America is the cause of all the trouble. East Coast Time and Pacific Time must be distinguished; Middle Western Time has its own place—probably New Platte, Neb., or thereabouts.

If the Londoner wishes to listen to Bob Hope, broadcasting from New York at 8 p.m. (East Coast Time), he must add five hours for distance, one hour for Summer Time, another for Double Summer Time. If he wishes to rise with the lark, he must—oh, why not dial TIM?

Triumph Over Blindness

The death of Dr. Alfred Hollins, the blind organist, who had a world-wide reputation, recalls to a correspondent a visit he once paid to Free St. George's, Edinburgh, where Hollins was organist for forty years.

"At the time of my visit," he says, "the church, by a remarkable coincidence, had two ministers, one named White and the other Black, and their preaching, along with the reputation of the blind organist, assured such crowded congregations that the ordinary public were not admitted until five minutes before the time of commencement.

"Hollins had been blind from birth, but he was fortunate in being given a sound musical training, and a wonderful memory enabled him to overcome all difficulties. When only thirteen years of age he played the "Emperor" Concerto of Beethoven at the Crystal Palace in London.

"Sir Henry Wood, the famous conductor, attended that concert, and he made a point of going to hear Hollins whenever he played in London. On one occasion he played in one evening three piano concertos—the composers being Beethoven, Schumann and Liszt—an amazing feat of mnemonics."

Tyres

A small boy was discovered by the well-dressed man rolling a motor car tyre along the road. The man approached the boy, and, having ascertained that the tyre was the small boy's property, asked to see his mother.

He offered to buy the tyre, but the mother said that it was her little boy's plaything, and she wasn't going to take it from him for a few shillings. "I'll give you two pounds for it," offered the man.

The mother gasped for breath, and then, excusing herself, rushed into her house, emerging a short time later staggering under the weight of two more old motor-car tyres.

"They've been there for years," she said, and then, with a great effort of will: "I'll take five pounds for the lot," she added—and got it.

£125 Fine on Unlicensed Bookmaker.—A fine of £500, mitigated to £125, was imposed at Ballincollig (Co. Cork) District Court yesterday on John Forde, Douglas, West Cork, for acting as a bookmaker without a licence at the Ballincollig Coursing meeting last December. Admitting the offence, defendant said he had been a bookmaker's clerk and went to the meeting to get a day's employment. When he failed to get a job he set up a book of his own.

Alleged Larceny from Coal Mines.—At the Ballyfarnon (Co. Roscommon) District Court, eight men were summoned in a prosecution brought by the State, at the suit of Superintendent Slevin, Boyle, for, as alleged, stealing and receiving rails, wheels of hutches, axles and other fittings, the property of the Sligo Coal Mining Company, Ltd. (Lynn's) and of the Arigna Collieries, Ltd. (Leyden's). The defendants were:—Thomas Christie, Rover Lower; Austin Wynne, Carnagh; Michael Holohan, Aughabehy; Michael Gaffney, Glenkillamey; Patrick J. Daly, Rover Upper; John Flynn, Cashel, Ballyfarnon; Patrick Flynn, Seltanaveeny; Michael Grogan, Tullynahaw. Mr. P. J. Neilan, State Solicitor, who outlined the facts, said that the larcenies, as well as being serious, amounted to sabotage, as 300 or 400 men were employed and might be thrown out of work. The prosecution decided to stop this.

ARCTIC CONVOYS

By Our Military Correspondent.

THOSE who were listening to Admiral Cunningham's broadcast of May 26th will recall his statement that practically every major engagement in the Mediterranean resulted from attempts to prevent the passing of convoys. Much the same has been true in the Far East—e.g., the Makassar Strait battle. The Jervis Bay action was yet another case in point. In this respect there is a clear difference between the practice of the present naval war and that of the last—before convoy became general in the latter. Even then, however, there were the two notable German attacks on the North Sea convoy.

We thus find operating to-day the same principles as obtained during the Anglo-Dutch wars of nearly three centuries ago. What has changed is simply the means employed to attack the convoy or to cover its passage. The important point is that, when one adversary is firmly resolved to get his convoy through and the other equally determined to prevent this happening, a battle will result. Now, it pays the stronger at sea to force a battle, because, on balance, the result will favour himself. The stronger at sea, therefore, should boldly adopt this strategy of "trailing his coat." Naturally, this does not mean that he will expose his convoys in a stupid fashion; he will, on the contrary, take every precaution to ensure the strongest cover he can afford—surface, submarine and aerial—not for passive defence of the convoy, but for counter-stroke on the attackers.

Bearing all this in mind, we shall be in a better position to assess the significance of the German attacks on convoys for North Russia, which were so marked a feature of the sea war last month. On May 28th the German High Command published a special announcement that 13 ships, totalling 88,000 tons, had been sunk, and several others damaged, in the course of a three-day attack on a convoy for North Russia, "in the waters between Iceland and the North Cape." The claim may be exaggerated—aircraft and submarines observe only with difficulty. At all events, the engagement has a distinct family resemblance to that which began on the last day of April—in which the Edinburgh and four merchantmen were lost.

SUPPLY ROUTES

Now this Battle of the Arctic, as we might call it, is of more immediate consequence than that of the Atlantic. It is more immediately pressing, because it concerns the supply of a vitally active front—whereas the other is at second hand, as it were. Despite the steady improvement of communications via Persia, the vast bulk of Allied supplies for Russia continues to enter via Murmansk and Archangel. Incidentally, the Russians have taken an appreciable toll of supplies for the Germans here—also largely sea-borne.

The Germans make their attacks by combining forces of various types. We hear of submarines, destroyers and E-boats of naval units, besides big bombers of the Luftwaffe. As we are now in the season of "white nights" in these high latitudes, the Focke-Wulf Kuriers can cruise almost continuously without danger of losing touch with their quarry. In rear—"in general reserve," so to speak, at Trondhjem—are Tirpitz and her consorts, the pocket-battleship Luetzow and the heavy cruiser Hipper. There is, thus, a judicious blending of all the component parts in the scheme. It is clear that the Germans are using Norway offensively—even granting that they have more troops there than they really would like.

AERIAL PROTECTION

But, no matter how good the arrangements of the force raiding the commerce, it is up to the stronger sea-power to get its convoys through—and that without crippling losses, whether to the ships in convoy or their escorts. Evidently, the first care must be to counter the bombing aircraft—and to counter them in such a way that their losses must prove prohibitive if they persist. Clearly, then, aircraft-carriers are necessary, as well as "flak" ships. But, in the case of these Arctic convoys, the obvious method is by shore-based 'planes from a good aerodrome on Jan Mayen Island—one-third of the journey from Iceland to the North Cape.

The convoy is thus aerially protected up to the counter-attack standard. Equivalent protection against submarines or light surface craft is, ex hypothesi, afforded by the actual formation in convoy. If the adversary now intends to attack, quand même, he must, perforce, employ a "body of battle." He must, in short, call up from Trondhjem Tirpitz and her consorts, Luetzow and Hipper. Accordingly, the organiser of the convoy must see to it that this powerful squadron can be engaged on favourable terms. For example, a squadron of fast ships-of-the-line could be lying up in one of the excellent harbours in the Faroes; and a submarine trap could be laid westward for a suitable distance from the southern islands of the Lofoten Chain. Torpedo-carrying aircraft could be provided from Jan Mayen, the Faroes, or the Shetlands—just as was thought best.

ROAD PASSENGER SERVICE

WEXFORD CASE

THE governing element in the definition of road passenger service was whether each passenger was charged a separate fare, said Mr. Justice Hanna, when determining a question put to the Court in a case stated by District Justice Fahy, Wexford.

Richard Pratt, junior, Kilmuckridge, County Wexford, had been summoned under the Road Transport Act, 1932, for carrying on a passenger road service between Kilmuckridge Village, Blackwater and Wexford, without a passenger licence.

The District Justice had been satisfied on the evidence that Mr. Pratt had been carrying on a passenger road service without being licensed to do so, but reserved his decision pending appeal to the Circuit Court in a similar case. The Circuit Judge quashed a conviction in that case, and the District Justice, holding that he was bound by the view taken by the Circuit Judge, dismissed the summons on the merits.

Mr. Justice Hanna held that the evidence established that Mr. Pratt had been carrying on a road passenger service, and remitted the case to the District Justice to act accordingly.

In this case a separate fare had, said Mr. Justice Hanna, been charged to each passenger by Mr. Pratt, who had not a passenger licence. If Mr. Pratt had not wished to take out a licence, the only thing he could have done to protect himself would have been to ask one of the passengers to hire the car for a lump sum, and arrange that they should pay, not him, but the person hiring the car.

Mr. Carroll O'Daly (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) appeared for Superintendent Ryan, who prosecuted. There was no appearance for Mr. Pratt.

JUDGE'S CAR

THREE MEN CHARGED

Gerard Kilcullen (19), Eccles street, a well-known boxer, and Patrick Geraghty (24), Goldsmith street, were further remanded until June 11th by Senior District Justice Hannan, in the Dublin District Court yesterday. They are accused of having broken into the premises of A. H. Smith, Upper Dorset street, broken two safes and attempted to set fire to the premises. Also they are charged with having broken into other premises and the larceny of property. Gerard Kilcullen and his brother, Hugh, are charged with conspiring to commit housebreaking and possession of housebreaking implements. Yesterday the three accused men were further charged with stealing a motor car, the property of Judge Comyn, with breaking into Corballis Golf Club, Donabate, and stealing property valued at £44.

POOR LAW RELIEF

The total number of persons (men, women and children) in receipt of public assistance under the Poor Law on the last Saturday of April, 1942, was 105,824, which is 1,317 less than the previous month, and 13,060 less than on the corresponding day last year. The total is equivalent to 35.4 per 1,000 of the estimated population. The number of persons in receipt of home assistance was 86,231, or 983 less than the previous month, and 13,276 less than on the corresponding day last year. The average cost of home assistance was £13,861 per week, or £355 less than in the previous month, and £224 less per week than in April, 1941.

BREAKING CHARGE

Charged before Senior District Justice Hannan in the Dublin District Court yesterday with breaking and entering a number of shops in Dublin and stealing moneys and property ranging in value from £4 to £40, James O'Brien (25), of no fixed address, was remanded in custody until Monday.

CRUISKEEN LAWN

By MYLES NA gCOPALEEN

THERE is a lot of talk nowadays about repatriating our foreign acids. The agitation has my heartiest support. I have a tank of citric acid standing in Lisbon for the past two years, but so far I have been denied shipping space. The tank is on the quays, and is being depleted seriously by the inroads of marmalade-loving lascars, who loot oranges and sugar from other sources and then must have some of my citric acid to complete their yellow palate-corroding brew.

Lavoisier, incidentally, took the view that acids were binary oxygenated compounds, and that the associated water was an extraneous passive "element," which served merely as a solvent. He was really the daddy of the absurd theory that all acids are monobasic. An ancestor of my own (who landed at Killala when Ireland called and at a time when it was neither profitable nor popular) was all for the theory of polybasicity, and proved his point in the teeth of scurrilous opposition from Lavoisier and butties like Gay-Lussac and Gmelin, who were no better. That was a long time ago, of course.

I read that Ireland's acids in England are valued at £300,000,000. They are mostly organic acids of the carboxyl group, but we have several tanks of malonic and succinic acids and many thousands of cans of miscellaneous acids where the intrusion of carbon atoms (no doubt the work of persons who have no love for Ireland) makes classification according to empirical molecular formulæ out of the question. How this vast accumulation of bitterness can be transported to this country after the war, or what possible use we would have for it, I cannot imagine.

The Plain People of Ireland: You're right there, we have enough bitterness in this country.

Myself: We have bedad.

The Plain People of Ireland: But of course the sulphuric is very handy for the batteries.

Myself: Aye indeed.

Me and My Soul

This dripped off my assembly belt the other night (when I could have sworn I had the machines turned off for the night). Print it on barley-fudged crême-primed Hungarian sub-paper in good, old 12-point Gracatia Sancta and next thing you know I will have hair on my face and I will perceive indubitably Marxian strata in the subconscious, suggesting that all irrational impulses etc. etc. etc.

the antic soul
rides the wry, red brain;
horses know horses know what they're thinking about (you might say curse that alien corn),

the bloody heart
lusts in its foul tenement
o blow, viaticum pump, blow on your last glazed fruit-valves.

Recipe

Stuff the breast of the chicken with some of the sausage meat. Place the sugar thermometer in the syrup while it is boiling. Withdraw the pan from the burner as soon as the correct temperature has been reached. Wash the sago. Mix the cornflour into a paste with some of the cold milk. Fill with prepared paste, using either a hot knife or a forcing pipe. Transfer to a tin lined with greased paper and bake for 1 hr. 45 minutes with the Regulo at Mark 4. Mix and turn out on a floured board, shape into cutlets, coat with the egg and bread crumbs and fry in hot fat for the rest of your natural.

PROMISING IRISH FRUIT CROP

LOW PRICES UNLIKELY

By Our Special Representative.

IRISH fruit-growers, in spite of their traditional lack of enterprise, will have a good season, the indications of a heavy crop this year being widespread. Consumers will pay a comparatively high price for fresh fruit, the bountiful yield notwithstanding, because the major part of the crop will be converted into jams and jellies.

NO OUTSIDE FRUIT

For the first time in very many years the country will be entirely dependent on its own fruit production, and jam manufacturers already have entered into large contracts with growers in different parts of the country. In Britain not merely have the prices of fruit been fixed, but the entire crop has been controlled, and will be diverted to the manufacturers or the market as circumstances require, the manufacturers having first claim on it. The industry there is completely organised from the producer to the manufacturer and consumer.

Although Eire will not receive fruit in any form this year—there will be no soft fruit or pulp from the West Indies or Holland, and no Continental or Canadian apples, imports of which formerly were valued at about £125,000 yearly—it is not intended to fix prices here. The principle of allowing the law of supply and demand to operate will continue, partly because of the immense difficulties involved in taking control of the scattered Irish production, which is completely unorganised, as always it has been, and partly, no doubt, because of inability, under the system obtaining here, to achieve the results which can be obtained in a Britain at war.

Let us turn to the producer and see the reaction from him to the new siutation so completely in his favour. It is true that there has been a heavy demand for fruit trees this year, but, taking the position generally, the development in the fruit industry, encouraged by an exclusive market, has hardly been noticeable. Even with the prospect that after the war the business here will be free from foreign competition, growers have failed to take advantage of the unrivalled opportunity of development on modern scientific lines, and the farmers' small orchards remain small pre-war orchards.

It is estimated that it will need the sustained efforts of several generations to overcome the apathy, too often sheer laziness, that results in ungraded, scabby, windblown apples to be offered to the public, and to secure a proper development of Irish fruit-growing.

UNEMPLOYED IN BRITAIN

The total number of wholly unemployed men and women in Great Britain, according to the latest Ministry of Labour returns, is down to less than 90,000—the lowest since records have been kept.

Corpus Christi Procession in Ennis.—Most Rev. Dr. Fogarty, Bishop of Killaloe, gave Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at O'Connell square, Ennis, to the largest assembly that ever took part in a Corpus Christi procession in the town yesterday. Military and L.D.F. formed a guard of honour for the Sacred Host, which was borne by the Very Rev. M. Hamilton, Adm., from the Franciscan Church through the principal streets to the Square, where an altar had been erected.

Going Grey?
Restore Natural Colour this Easy Way
Don't let time mark you out by greying your hair. Put back the clock by giving your hair back its natural youthful colour. It's easy, inexpensive, safe, quick. Make up the following mixture. To a half pint of water add one ounce of Bay Rum. Then mix in contents of one small box Orlex Compound. Finally add a quarter ounce of glycerine. Any chemist can supply these ingredients or make up the mixture. Applied twice weekly, this non-greasy, non-sticky, non-rub mixture soon gives your hair the glow of youthful colour—and it doesn't colour the scalp. Get rid of grey hair. Start to-day—the Orlex way.

Another cup, Mummy, please
That's the thing which has made Café such a favourite with mothers. Not only is it really good for children, but it's so delicious that they need no coaxing to take it. It's made from ingredients so pure, so wholesome, so nourishing that the more they take the more good it does them. In ½ lb. & 1 lb. packets from grocers.

DOCTOR CONQUERS HIS OWN GASTRITIS
Can Now Eat Anything
When a busy doctor sits down and writes to thank the makers of a remedy which cured his own stomach trouble, you can be sure he has found something worth writing about! Read his letter:—
"I was very much overworked and worried. Gastric symptoms, then pain after food, manifested themselves, so that I had to go into hospital. I came out with the trouble alleviated, but by no means cured. I then started on a box of 'Rennies.' The gastric pain, heartburn or 'acidity' disappeared, and I can now eat anything. I always carry two or three Rennies in my waistcoat pocket. Naturally, I recommend them to any of my patients similarly afflicted."
(Signed) ——, M.B., Ch.B.
This doctor is just one of 1,198 doctors who have written, praising Digestif Rennies. Digestif Rennies work in three ways. They contain antacids which neutralise acidity; absorbents which reduce stomach gas; and digestive ferments which actively aid digestion. Rennies dissolve in the mouth. They become active at once, because they reach your stomach full strength—not weakened with water.

She was being poisoned by CONSTIPATION

WHEN this woman rid herself of constipation, she found that her health quickly improved. Read her letter:—
"For many years I had stubborn constipation which apparently no remedy could improve. My system was being continually poisoned. I was nervous to the point of not being able to sleep, and I was too weak to do my housework. Then I began to take Kruschen Salts. In a short while, I noticed a vast improvement. Now I sleep better — I am no longer constipated — I don't feel so tired, and my work seems easier. I have Kruschen to thank for all these benefits."—(Mrs. B.)
Kruschen Salts is nature's recipe for maintaining internal cleanliness. The six salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clear of those impurities which, if allowed to accumulate, make you unfit for work or pleasure and lower your resistance to illness.
Start taking Kruschen today. Sold by all chemists in 1/9 bottles.

What is RETREADING?

Retreading is the rebuilding of tyres, and in the process the old rubber is stripped off, and new rubber equal in thickness to that which is originally on the tyre is built on to the casing. It is an absolutely first-class job, and even in pre-war days was availed of to a very large extent by the discriminating motorists and lorry owners in Eire. Of course motorists all over the world, particularly in the U.S.A., have been having their tyres retreaded for very many years.

Retreading or rebuilding, or whatever term is applied, as long as the work is carried out by experts, is a sound, dependable and first-class job. In times of peace it is a most essential factor in the budget of the private motorist and lorry owner, but in war time it is an absolute national necessity, and we are happy to be able to place at the disposal of the lorry owners, and the motorists who are permitted to run their cars, the experience of our workers and the output of our machinery which has been specially made for the rebuilding of tyres.

Trinity Week Cricket

BY P. D. McWEENEY.

THE Gentlemen of Ireland and Phœnix all-rounder, D. R. Pigot, has collected a useful side to meet Trinity next Monday and Tuesday in the opening sporting engagement of Trinity Week. The team is — D. R. Pigot (captain), J. C. Boucher, G. J. Quinn (Phœnix), A. G. Murray, B. F. Bergin (Pembroke), C. R. Cuffe, M. D. Burke, S. E. Law (Leinster) C. Mara, J. D'Arcy, P. Waldron (Merrion).

The batting looks to be particularly sound; for either Mara or Cuffe, going in last, occupy considerably more elevated positions on their club teams. G. J. Quinn, who had been suffering from a Rugby injury, turned out for Phœnix II last Saturday and knocked up 40 runs, so his late start apparently has not affected his scoring abilities. Pigot also has a useful variety of bowling, Mara supplying the pace, with Boucher, Murray, Burke and the captain himself to lend support, but the lack of a recognised slow bowler may be a handicap. As Trinity so far, have shown themselves to be the strongest club team in Dublin, this should be an extremely attractive game, and I would be inclined to back the University to win it.

The main attraction in to-morrow's League list is the Trinity v. Leinster match in College Park. Most people who have seen Leinster in action so far have come away with the firm impression that the club has never been so weak in bowling, and two of the Clontarf batsmen further emphasised that fact last Monday; but, all the same, Leinster are terribly hard to beat, for it takes a high standard of attack to get them out in the course of an afternoon. I doubt if the Trinity bowlers can do so, in which case a draw seems the most probable ending, as one can only visualise a barren afternoon for the Leinster bowlers. Fixtures:

Senior League—Dublin University v. Leinster, Clontarf v. Merrion, Civil Service v. Pembroke, Phœnix v. Y.M.C.A. On ground of first-named club. Matches start at 2.30.

Morgan's School Past v. Present.

TEAMS

Leinster—N. H. Lambert (capt.), F. G. Connell, M. D. Burke, P. Neville, S. E. Law, F. W. Fox, J. R. Gill, C. R. Cuffe, C. Manahan, P. H. McCarroll, P. C. Mannion.

Dublin University—W. J. Moynan (capt.), L. H. Shrago, W. H. McClelland, G. V. Luce, S. Barnes, E. A. Carry, S. S. Fleming, A. D. Morton, J. W. Hill, W. S. Jameson, N. B. Hool.

Clontarf—L. B. McMahon, N. C. Mahoney, S. E. Keegan, D. Fitzgerald, E. Dunne, A. R. White, N. McKenna, J. McClancy, G. Wheeler, C. P. Stuart, A. A. O'Donnell.

Pembroke—M. B. Williams (capt.), B. F. Bergin, C. R. Burrowes, K. C. Dempsey, G. C. Erskine, B. E. Kernan, A. G. Murray, B. W. Miller, F. J. Miller, P. B. Murphy, T. C. Williams.

Morgan's School Past—H. Anderson, J. Chaloner, D. Craigie, A. Finch, A. Goulding, A. Griffin, E. Henderson, C. Jameson, W. Noble, K. Wallace, F. Wellwood.

SCHOOLS BEATEN

A weak Leinster XI. had little difficulty in defeating the Leinster Schools' Selection on Wednesday at Rathmines by 57 runs. S. E. Smith did best work for the winners, scoring a sound 31 and taking 4 wickets for 10 runs. Score:—Leinster, 133; Schools, 76.

ALL OUT FOR ONE

Willie Scott, playing for St. Mary's College against Blackrock College in the O'Gorman Cup competition, took 7 wickets without a run being scored off him. Blackrock were dismissed for one run.

Old Boys' Match.—Old Columbans 234 (McVeagh 115 not out, Jameson 55), St. Columba's College 130 (Payne 38, Vanston 29).

Y.M.C.A. 2nd XI. require an away fixture for Saturday, 13th June. Reply to R. I. Gill, 4 Oaklands Park, Ballsbridge.

U.C.D. Retain Sherlock Golf Cup

ALMOST up to the end Wanderers, twice winners of the Dr. Lorcan Sherlock Cup, were leading the holders, University College, in the ninth annual competition at Grange yesterday, but Brendan Scannell, the College's plus man, and his partner, Desmond Purcell, were to come, and when they holed out on the last green Wanderers were beaten by half a point. It was an excellent performance of the University pair, who had only one stroke, to finish in 74. They took the prize for the best gross, but Wanderers had some recompense for their narrow defeat when P. Love and J. B. Johnson won the prize for the best nett with 70. It was the College's third success in the competition. Ten teams competed.

297½—University College—Dr. R. E. Davitt and R. Hogan (7½), 72; B. J. Scannell and T. D. Purcell (1), 74; T. P. Hogan and G. M. Purcell (10½), 74½; G. D. Murnaghan and N. V. Hogan (12½), 76½.

298—Wanderers—P. Love and J. B. Johnson (8), 70; A. B. Robertson and G. W. Robertson (8), 73; J. S. Shee and W. J. McCormick (8), 76; P. F. Murray and J. Hewat (5), 79.

302½—Blackrock College—R. V. Kilmurray and P. J. Tierney (12), 71; L. Gunning and D. Murray (9½), 74½; H. Keogh and K. O'Dea (11½), 77½; J. Butler and W. P. Corrigan (15½), 79½.

305½—Lansdowne and Bective Rangers. 307—Old Wesley. 310—Clontarf. 318—Old Belvedere. 321½—Monkstown. 356—Palmerston.

Best Gross—B. J. Scannell and T. D. Purcell (U.C.D.), 75.

Best Nett—P. A. Love and J. B. Johnson (Wanderers), 70. Second Best Nett—R. Kilmurray and P. J. Tierney (Blackrock), 71.

TRINITY WEEK MATCH

The Club beat the Society by 6-2 at Dollymount yesterday in the annual golf match played in connection with Trinity Week. It should have been played next Thursday, but was brought forward a week.

J. G. Clarke (4) beat Col. H. A. Boyd, D.S.O. (5), 3 and 2; J. A. Donnelly (6) lost to Rev. H. G. Forde (8), 3 and 2; J. T. McGeagh (8) beat Dr. J. Beckett (8), 3 and 1; D. L. Robinson (11) beat Rev. W. N. Harvey (9), 3 and 2; W. G. Jameson (12) beat Dr. Donald at the 9th; R. N. Watts (13) lost to Professor Jamieson, 2 and 1; J. Driscoll (16) beat Rev. R. S. Stewart, 4 and 3; G. T. Lawson (14) beat R. N. Glynn, 4 and 3.

LIMERICK JUNCTION RESULTS

The Barronstown 'Chase, the chief event at Limerick Junction yesterday, provided plenty of excitement. The favourite, Golden Eyrie, was going well when he blundered a mile from home, and then Pontiff held out hopes of success; but he, too, made a mistake at the last fence which put him out of court. This left Gold Rainbow with apparently a winning chance, but he was run out of it on the flat by Doremi. Following the mistake he made, Golden Eyrie came to grief, and his rider, J. Costello, sustained a broken collar bone. The racing generally was up to a good standard, and, on the whole, backers did well.

DEATH OF FAMOUS RUGBY PLAYER

The death is announced of Lieut.-Col. E. D. Caddell, one of the most distinguished Rugby half-backs to play for Ireland. He was "capped" against England in 1905, '06 and '07; against Scotland from 1904 to 1908, inclusive; against Wales in 1905, '06 and '08; against New Zealand in 1906, and against South Africa in 1907. His clubs were Dublin University and Wanderers.

Caddell was in the Irish team that, with 13 men at the finish, beat Wales at Belfast by a goal and two tries to two tries. He and his partner, W. B. Purdon, were two injured. Purdon had to leave before half-time with an injured knee, and Caddell had a leg broken about ten minutes from the end of the game. Fred Gardiner took Purdon's place, and when Caddell retired Joseph Wallace came from the pack to replace him. Caddell also was in the Irish team that beat England 17-3 in the match that opened the Mardyke grounds in 1905.

Deceased was a lieutenant-colonel of the R.A.M.C., and resided at Killiney before he left for England, some 20 years ago. He was an Army selector.

STOCK MARKET REPORTS

DUBLIN EXCHANGE

Public interest was again on a small scale on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday. There was quiet support for certain local securities, and the tendency was harder for choice. British Industrials maintained their recent firmness.

The Second National Loan advanced 7/6 to 116½, and other issues held steady, apart from the Third Loan, which eased to 113. 3½ p.c. War Loan improved to 105, and Dublin 4½ p.c. 1955/'75 were raised over a point to 108.

Banks showed little change, apart from Munster and Leinster, which came on offer, and fell 1/- to 107/-. Guinness units eased the turn to 91/3.

Rails continued on the quiet side. Great Northern Ord. lost 10/- at 20½, but the Pref. gained a like amount at 39¾. Great Southern Deb (City of Dublin Junction) spurted 8¼ points to 54.

Dublin Transport Ord. eased slightly, but the Pref. firmed up to 24/9. Cement Ord. added pence at 33/6, but Clondalkin Paper Ord. shaded off to 5/7½. Hammond Lane Pref., Irish Sugar Pref., May Roberts (Ireland) Pref., and Sunbeam Wolsey Pref. all moved in favour of holders.

Imperial Chemical Ord. hardened to 33/6, and Lever Bros. Ord. quoted 26/-. Coats Ord. changed hands at 36/7½, and British Plaster Boards at 22/-.

WOOL

BRADFORD — New business is being negotiated by clothing manufacturers under the new scheme for supply of utility wool cloth, but it is difficult to arrange for early delivery. All orders covered by key certificates which have been issued to designated firms have to be placed by June 10th. Moderate amount of new business in yarns.

£650 FOR PUBLICAN

Mr. Justice Black, in the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, gave judgment for £650 and costs, for Patrick R. J. Tobin, publican, 82 Sir John Rogerson's quay, Dublin, in his action against the Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Company, claiming damages for injury to his business by oil, which, he stated, had escaped from an underground pipeline of the company and flooded his cellar to a depth of several inches.

When the action last had been before the Court, Mr. Justice Black intimated that he would award £300 in respect of consequential damage; and on the question of the abatement of the nuisance, he allowed it to stand to enable the parties to consider whether restoration work would be undertaken by the company at their risk, stating that in the absence of agreement he would assess damages in respect of that matter.

Mr. Fitzgerald, K.C., for the company, now said that a compromise had been reached, by which £350, in addition to the £300, would be paid to Mr. Tobin to do the restoration work or not, just as he pleased.

£30 IN £5 BAGS

Employed as a domestic servant, Margaret Neville (18), a native of Co. Limerick, was remanded on bail for a week by Senior Justice Hannan, in the Dublin District Court yesterday, accused of the larceny of £30, which was made up in bags of £5 each, from a house in Clonard road, Crumlin, where she was employed. £25 was not recovered. The girl, in the course of an alleged statement, said that she spent some of the money at a carnival, paid £2 2/- a week in a hotel. She bought a few dresses, a coat and handbag.

LONDON QUIETER

A disposition to await news from Libya gave a quieter tone to Stock markets in London yesterday, though there was some liveliness in certain sections. Gilts had a very quiet day, but prices kept steady.

Firmness characterised British Rails, where Great Westerns and Southern Deferred scored advances. Overseas issues were steady.

There was less doing in the Industrial market, but the general tone was firm. Dividend hopes brought in further buyers of Cable and Wireless issues, which finished a point higher. Tobaccos ruled quietly firm.

Kaffir developers suffered a spasm of weakness, but Diamond issues were particularly strong. De Beers Def. were ¼ better at 9¼. Cape selling of Kaffir non-producers engendered fresh nervousness regarding the future of development during the war. Libanon and Western Holdings were weak, and West Wits fell ¼ to 4¾, but other descriptions met with support. Dividend-payers remained firm.

The Oil market was less buoyant. "Shells" commanded less attention and the price receded ⅛. Royal Dutch, however, held firm at 16¼. There was a little offering of Anglo-Iranians and Burmahs were marked down 7½d.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Thursday.—The list was generally higher at the opening, but trading was quiet. Motors and specialities accounted for the principal strength, and a number of favourites reache the best levels for a year.

The feeling in Wall Street is that the European war developments have far overshadowed the Japanese raid in Alaska.

The close was firm. Sales totalling 524,000 shares comprised 681 issues, of which 418 advanced, 96 declined, and 167 remained unchanged.—(Reuter.)

NIGHT RAID ON BREMEN

The great German port of Bremen was heavily hit by Royal Air Force bombers on Wednesday night. Four German 'planes were intercepted and destroyed over their aerodromes.

An Air Ministry communiqué stated that the weather favoured the attack on Bremen, and the target, well illuminated by flares, was heavily bombed.

"The docks at Dieppe were also attacked and mines were laid in enemy waters.

"Enemy aerodromes in France and the Low Countries were attacked during the night by aircraft of Bomber and Fighter Commands. Four enemy aircraft were intercepted and destroyed by our fighters in these attacks.

"From these operations ten bombers and two fighters are missing.

"An enemy aircraft was shot down by a Wellington bomber in the raid on the Ruhr on Tuesday night."

"The enemy put up a stiff resistance," says the Air Ministry News Service. "There were many encounters with night fighters, and the anti-aircraft barrage was intense, but the bombers got through and delivered a fierce attack.

"The whole of the attack was concentrated within about half-an-hour. One particularly large fire was seen in the dock area, with smoke rising to 10,000 feet, and in other industrial parts more fires, large and small, were breaking out and spreading as the attack went on."
